

University Of Colorado Sociologist Receives Presidency Appointment

Earl Clarkson Crockett, chairman of the Department of Social Sciences and assistant to the president of University of Colorado, has been appointed president of Brigham Young University, it was announced Monday by President L. Wilkinson.

The appointment is effective Oct. 1, 1957. Other members of the YU Presidency are Dr. Harlow Taylor, executive assistant to the president, and William Berrett, vice president in charge of religious education. Assistant to the vice president at University of Colorado, Crockett is engaged in conducting a self-evaluation survey of the school. His department of Social Sciences includes anthropology, economics, social science and sociology.

Idaho Native

Crockett is a native of Pocatello, Idaho, and received the doctor of science degree in economics at University of Utah in 1927 and the Ph.D. degree in economics at University of California in 1931.

His long teaching career, he served as a teaching fellow at University of California, 1929-

31; assistant professor of finance, University of North Dakota, 1931-34; assistant, associate and full professor, University of Colorado, 1934 to present.

Economist Background

During World War II he was principal economist for the War Production Board, Washington,

DR. EARL C. CROCKETT

... New BYU Vice President

D. C., on leave from University of Colorado. He served also as acting dean of the graduate school, University of Colorado, 1950-51; professor of economics at University of Maryland, Overseas Program (Western Germany), 1952-53, and professor of banking, Colorado School of Banking, during the summers of 1953 and 1954. He has served on many important university committees.

Honored by his colleagues for scholarship, he was University of Colorado Research Lecturer in 1951, and received the faculty research fellowship in 1955.

Active in state and community affairs, he has served as consultant for the Colorado General Assembly, for three governors, the Governor's Commission on the Aged, Colorado Department of Public Welfare, and Boulder City Council.

Published Author

He has written dozens of articles for economics, legal and political science publications, and his high school text, "Problems of American Democracy," is now in process of publication.

Active in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints he is a Sunday School teacher in Boulder Ward, a member of the Denver Stake Sunday School Board, and formerly served as counselor in the branch presidency and chairman of the building committee.

Served Seat Tickets On Sale Philadelphia Orchestra

The world-famous Philadelphia Orchestra under the baton of renowned Eugene Ormandy will perform in the Smith Fieldhouse May 13 at 8:15 p. m.

Served seat tickets are available through the Brigham Young University ticket office. They are $3.50 and $2. All tickets reserved.

Philadelphia Orchestra made its first concert in 1900 in the direction of a German pianist, Fritz Scheel. The Philadelphia Orchestra has had only two permanent conductors.

Ormandy has been conductor for twenty years. He first conducted the orchestra in 1931 and became its permanent musical director in 1936 after five years with the Minneapolis Orchestra.

Since then Ormandy has guided the orchestra to its present position of leadership in America, an achievement attested by a recent poll conducted by "Down Beat" Magazine, who for the third consecutive season voted it the leading symphony orchestra in the United States.

"Philadelphia" became the first symphony orchestra to record under its own name, and with its own conductor. It was first established symphony orchestra to broadcast over a nationwide network for a commercial sponsor, 1929, and the first to be televised, CBS, 1948.

From its first season the Philadelphia Orchestra has been sharing its artistry with other cities, and at the end of the 1955-56 season more than one-third of its 6,220 total concerts had been given outside its Quaker City.

It has made five transcontinental tours. The most recent was a 35-day tour of Europe, including Belgium, Holland, France, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Switzerland, Austria, Germany, Sweden and Finland.

Coed Fashion Show Opens Tuesday

Women's Week activity on Tuesday will be a fashion show to be held at 12 noon in 1100 Smith Family Living Center.

Modeling clothes of their own making will be Brigham Young University coeds with Jan Markstaller, Portland, Ore., as narrator.

Everyone is invited to attend this spring fashion show announced Chairman Bliss Finlayson.

Preparations On Y Day Go Into Final Stages

Y Day whitewashers and community workers will meet at 7:30 a. m. in the stadium and unite in ward, geographical club, service unit, and social unit groups.

Transportation will be provided to the base of the Y where whitewash lines will be formed to the block Y according to social units, ward groups and geographical clubs.

Paint Houses

Faculty members representing each of the nine colleges, will wield paint brushes to renew community homes.

Members of the Bricker social unit will rip down a bridge at the Provo boat harbor and will paint a new one.

Val Norn, Spur, Val Hyrie and Viking units will clean up the boat harbor area, and AFROTC, Sponsor corps members and Chi Sigma XXV members plan to sweep out the Provo swimming pool and clean the drains. Intercollegiate Knights and Y Calcares will whitewash the interior of the dance pavilion at Rainbow Gardens.

Movies will be taken of the mountain trek by the Brigham Young University television studio, to be televised, and a radio broadcast will be made directly from the mountain. Whitewashers and bucket brigadiers will be interviewed by Don Van Noy

The afternoon will be spent in activities including a combination obstacle course, a cow milking contest, a three-legged race, a greased pig contest, and an egg throwing contest.

Dance Slated

The Y Day dance will be held Wednesday evening in the Heritage Hall parking lot.

At 8:15 p. m. more than 100 Intercollegiate Knights and their dates will light the newly whitewashed Y. A flame will be passed from torch to torch until a Y is formed with the torches and then mass swaying movements of the torches will take place and torch "cartwheels will be tried."

At 8:30 p. m. the oil pots will be lighted and the traditional torch parade down hill will commence. LeRoy Bowen, Paso Robles, Calif. is in charge of the Y lighting materials, consisting of mattress stuffing and 100 gallons of crankcase oil. Roger DeMordant, Blackfoot, Idaho, is in charge of making the 130 torches to be used.

Exec Discloses New Cabinet For Next Year

Members of the 1957-58 cabinet have been announced by Webb Crockett, studentbody president-elect.

These appointments, subject to the approval of the Senate, will go into effect at the beginning of fall quarter.

National Student Association Coordinator is Diane Hatch, Idaho Falls, Ida. Homecoming Chairman is Norman Jackson, Kanab.

Publicity is to be handled by Bill Jackson, Beverly Hills, Calif., chairman of Leadership Conference is Dallen Gardner, Richfield, and Freshman Orientation is to be planned by Larry Jenkins, Pendleton, Ore.

Public Relations chairman is Howard Flanary, Nyssa, Ore., and Elections chairman is Duane Christensen, Seattle, Wash.

Pep Positions Available

Students interested in song-leading, cheerleading or flag-twirling for next year should meet in the Social Hall Thursday at 5:30 p. m.

Anyone interested but unable to attend may contact Paul Flanary. No experience is needed.

Longden Speaks Assembly Tuesday Morning

Ernest Longden, assistant to the Apostle of the Twelve Apostles, Bishop of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, will speak at Tuesday's devotional.

Ernest Longden has been active in the welfare program of the LDS Church serving on the welfare committee since 1950.

He has been noted for his fine singing voice and has had past experience for two years in a singing stock company.

Among his various activities in the Church, Elder Longden has served three years in the Central Utah LDS Mission, and as Bishop of the Salt Lake 19th Ward. He has accumulated a total of 18 years on the High Councils of Salt Lake Stake and Highland Stake.

His High School choir directed by Elvis B. Terry is scheduled to provide the music at the assembly.

Spring Turns Tail

Central Utah: Continued daily Tuesday with scattered showers over the central part of the state. Temperature from 53 to 69.

Evening Classes Continue Without Y Day Pause

Evening school classes will be held as usual on Wednesday, and will not be dismissed because of Y Day activities according to Dean Harold G. Clark of adult education and extension services.

Dean Clark said that if a sufficient number of students wish to be absent because of Y Day events, the teacher may dismiss the class on condition that a make-up class will be assigned immediately.

All students owning cars are urged to bring them to the south-west gate of Cougar stadium Wednesday at 7:30 a. m. to provide transportation to the base of Y Mountain, according to Talmage Bird, transportation chairman for Y Day.

for the listening of Provo KOVO audience.

Safety Stressed

Dave Loveless, chairman of the first aid committee, suggested that all students planning to hike to Y mountain on Wednesday, dress appropriately and cover exposed parts of their body with suntan lotion to reduce sunburn. Loveless said that any injury should be reported to the first aid men on the trail who will be wearing first aid arm bands. A first aid camp under the direction of McDonald Health Center will be established at the base of the mountain.

At noon all laborers will adjourn to the Smith Fieldhouse where free lunches will be served.

Reimer, Bob Froelich, Don Cornelious, George Hall-ock, (row three) Ray Ivy, Don Van Noy, Tal Bird, Gary Larson and Doug Banks. The work and fun day is scheduled for Wednesday.

Blood Donation Sign-Up Set By Committee

All students are urged to sign up for the AFROTC and Sponsor Corps Blood Drive Tuesday through Friday in the McKay Building, Smith Building, Eyring Science Center, and Smith Family Living Center, according to Marcia Morgan, chairman.

Students under 21 wishing to donate may pick up parents' permission slips at the sign-up tables.

Next Monday, Tuesday and May 8 students will donate blood in the basement of the Eyring Science Center from 11:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Blood received from the drive will be given to the Veterans Hospital and the Brigham Young University Health Center.

Student groups and social units are urged to have 100 per cent of their membership donate to the AFROTC and Sponsor Corps Blood Drive.

Fraternity Elects Faculty Members

Three Brigham Young University faculty members have been elected to executive positions in Beta Sigma Chapter, Phi Delta Kappa, national honorary education fraternity.

Dr. Percy E. Burrup, chairman of the Educational Administration Department, was named first vice president and president-elect; Wayne M. Carle, instructor in journalism, was elected secretary, and Dr. Morris A. Shirts, assistant professor of secondary education, was elected historian.

Other new officers of the BYU chapter include Elwood Baxter, Orem, president, and Bill Geertsen, Provo, treasurer.

Brigham Young University enrollment for Spring Quarter, 1957 is 8,086.

Birthday Surprise . . .

Archaeologist Receives Gift

Dr. M. Wells Jakeman, chairman of the department of archaeology, was recently awarded $100 to assist in the publication of his forthcoming work on ancient Mexican and Central American Chronicles.

Members of the Archaeology Society and other interested persons awarded Dr. Jakeman the money as a gift which will go toward publication of "Mesoamerican Chronical History: The Earlier Periods." He has been compiling material on this

NAMES OF HONOR—One of the eight recently constructed Heritage Halls which houses 72 BYU coeds, bears the name of an LDS woman active in church and civic affairs. All the halls are named after such women who have been outstanding.

President Announces Figures On Enrollment, Improvements

Statistics obtained from President Ernest L. Wilkinson's office reveal that Brigham Young University had a cumulative 1956-57 day college enrollment of 10,542, not including 1,259 enrolled in Summer, 1956.

Contrary to a lot of rumor, the statistics show that the enrollment of men exceeds that of the women by more than two thousand. Women enrolled in the College of Education more than doubled the number of men, but the men make up for it in the College of Physical and Engineering Sciences by numbering more than fifty times the enrollment of women.

Classes Listed

This year, Freshmen enrollment is 3,709; Sophomores, 2,450; Juniors, 1,928, and Seniors 1,833. Statistics show that graduate students number 622.

The BYU studentbody is represented by students from 36 states in the union and three territories Alaska, Hawaii and the Canal Zone. Foreign student enrollment totaling 428, brings students from 30 foreign countries.

In addition to the regular day college registration, the University serves 4,488 other students through evening, extension and correspondence classes. It also serves 538 students at the B. Y. High and B. Y. Elementary schools.

Statistics show that BYU Motion Picture Department has been responsible for the production of 13 movies. There are another three nearing completion and four others are in various stages of production.

Transfers Evaluated

Particularly interesting were the evaluation statistics of 510 transfer students in 1956 as to the quality of instruction at the BYU as compared with prior institutions attended. Fifty per cent rated BYU as superior, 36 per cent rated it about the same, and 14 per cent considered it to be inferior.

Evaluation of 522 graduate students in 1955 as to whether there had been any change in the quality of instruction at BYU during their four years in attendance showed that 68 per cent noticed a superior change, 25 per cent no change, and 1.5 per cent inferior change.

Dorms Possess Names Of Active LDS Women

Outstanding women of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints are being honored in the naming of the eight new Heritage Halls to be dedicated May 7.

ELSIE C. CARROLL, born in 1882, in Orderville, was a member of the English department at Brigham Young University for twenty-two years.

Though noted for her many stories, articles and poems, she also wrote lessons for Relief Society, Sunday School and Young Women's Mutual Improvement Association.

LAVINA C. FUGAL, chosen "American Mother of 1955," was born in 1879 in Pleasant Grove. She stopped her teaching career to devote her time and energy to her husband and reared a family of eight children.

SUSA YOUNG GATES, second daughter of Brigham Young, was born in Salt Lake City in 1856. This pioneer woman was a board member of the first YWMA in the Church. While teaching at the former Brigham Young Academy, she helped establish Music and Domestic Science departments as part of the curriculum.

Another notable woman, VILATE M. KIMBALL, born in 1806, was the first wife of President Heber C. Kimball. In addition to work in the church, she raised a family of 10 children. She died in 1867.

EMILY S. RICHARDS, honored for her service to women's organizations, was born in 1850, in South Cottonwood. Her life was devoted to Relief Society and YWMA, which she represented the International Women's Council in Washington, D. C. Along with her church work, she was active with Susan B. Anthony in the woman suffrage campaign and in other national women's causes until her death in 1929.

ZINA D. H. YOUNG, the next outstanding woman, was born in 1821 in Watertown, N. Y. After traveling across the plains with the pioneers, she became first counselor to the first Relief Society president, Eliza R. Snow.

MARTHA H. TINGEY served the youth of the church from 1880 to 1929 in the Primary Association and YWMA. She became president of the latter organization in 1905, and represented her group at the International Women's Council in Washington, D. C.

ELIZABETH ANN WHITNEY was the wife of Presiding Bishop Newel K. Whitney and served as first counselor in the first Relief Society presidency. She was born in Connecticut in 1800 and was converted to the church by Oliver Cowdery and was baptized in 1830.

Mamie Gains Favor In Hats, Hairdos

The one-sided hat Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower wore at the inaugural ceremony is causing two kinds of trends: hats and hair.

Not only is the one-side, off-face hat suddenly popular, but hairdressers have invented a special hairdo to go with it. It's called "Beaufantasia" and it's short somewhat bouffant, and one-sided.

The hair is softly waved to one side, somewhat sleek on the other or under-side. Waves continue on around the back of the head for a bouffant effect.

Designers Choose Freedom In Styles For Women With Imperfect Figures

PARIS — 15 — Paris fashions have chosen freedom this spring and women can stop worrying about styles that clash with their figures.

Instead of having to bow to the fanciful dictates of fashion designers, ladies now can look beautifully elegant whether or not they have natural curves.

This new liberty in fashion confronts women with the stimulating question: "What suits me?"

They can pick for themselves a girlish, elegant, casual, slim or curvy look.

Bust Emphasized

Bust-curves can be emphasized by tucks or drapes or played down by a boyish shirt-style. A slim-waist can be pulled into a near-wasp size while a "spare-tire" bulge can be concealed under a loose over-blouse or a semi-fitted jacket.

Hips also are no problem at all. With skirts ranging from molding sheaths to hooped roundness, with pleated, pegged, tubed and gored skirts in between, it will be easy to find the right line for every figure.

Skirts Lengthened

The skirt length, the most acute fashion problem during the past three years, has been solved in Dior's "Free Line." He shows hemlines from 13 inches off the floor down to back-dipping trains.

Other Paris designers believe in street-clothes with skirt-hems at 14 and 15 inches from the ground.

Even neckline styles have chosen freedom.

You can wear the "Guillotine cut"—round and collarless—or shirt-collar or cowl-cuff styles, a boat-neck or a heart-shaped de-collette. You can show as much —or as little—of your throat as you wish.

Dresses Slashed

You can even go to extremes by wearing a dress slashed down to the waist and that either in front or at the back.

For daytime there is the choice between a waist-length, hip-length or thigh-length jacket over a pegged, slim or pleated skirt. You can wear a blouse in sweater, T-shirt, middy, cardigan or lingerie style.

You can choose a full or a straight coat and wear it with or without a belt. It can be double-breasted, single-breasted or simply fastened by a tab. It can even be a buttonless kimono coat.

In dresses you can go in for a real sheath, a "slip-cover" or a "bag-dress," a straight or pleated shirt-waist style, a blousing two-piece garment or a dress combining a fitted top with a bell, bubble or lantern skirt.

BYU Cops Second In Rodeo

In spite of deep mud and cold weather at Pleasant Grove arena, Brigham Young University's fifth annual inter-collegiate rodeo was attended by 4,000 fans during the Friday and Saturday event.

Placing first in college team competition was Colorado A & M with 486 points. BYU was second with 403 points and Utah State took third, gaining 274 points.

BYU's team captain, K. V. Stevenson, McCammon, Ida., placed first in the steer wrestling contest with 40 markers.

Stevenson was also selected as runner-up for the title of "most outstanding cowboy" in the rodeo.

Miss Rhita Flake, Snowflake, Ariz., overcame stiff competition to cop first place in the women's cloverleaf barrel race. Her time was 47.8 seconds. Placing second was Miss Christine Arave, Salmon, Ida. In third rode Miss Sherril Turner, Van Nuys, Calif.

The only accident to mar the rodeo occurred when Utah's Sheldon Christensen received slight head injuries in a freak accident Friday night. His horse attempted to come out of the bucking chutes during the bareback riding contest and reared up and hit its head on the gate.

Christensen was thrown back against the chute. His horse fell to the ground dead.

Giving rodeo fans many laughs were BYU clowns Verland Whipple, Cloverdale, Calif., and Jack Martin, Phoenix, Ariz.

Such comments as "I just saw a girl over there with two nice calves," brought spontaneous applause and laughter from the delighted crowd. These two clowns stole the show when they irritated 1,600 lb. brahma bulls, making sure to drive quickly over the arena fence as the enraged animals charged.

BYU's Tribe of Many Feathers performed Indian tribal dances. They featured a very colorful "Dance of the Eagles" to pulsating tom-tom rhythm.

Universities and colleges competing in the rodeo were BYU, Montana State, Wyoming, Utah, Colorado A & M, Idaho State, Utah State, Colorado, Casper Junior College and Western State College.

It could be that Oscar Anderson is one of the most underrated half milers in the history of BYU track. Any other year he would probably be the best in the conference, but this is the third season that he has been running in the footsteps of his brother, Paul. Incidentally, Oscar made a valiant bid to overtake Paul in the stretch at Missoula. He finished less than two yards behind. Oscar also runs a leg in the mile relay.

Watts Sets Second Annual Casaba Clinic June 10-28

Scheduled for June 10-28 is Brigham Young University's second annual basketball workshop directed by Coach Stan Watts.

This is a non-credit program designed to give the basic fundamentals of basketball, to provide association and recreation to boys from the ages of eight to fourteen and to build confidence in the young students in athletics and other phases of life.

The first class meeting will be at 10 a. m., Monday, June 10, at Smith Fieldhouse. The sessions will be held for one hour daily Monday through Friday. If necessary, another time of day will be arranged with Coach Watts.

Towels, lockers and T-shirts will be provided for the enrollees. The t-shirts will be stencilled with the words "BYU Junior Basketball."

Registration deadline is May 24 and may be completed either by person or mail at the BYU Extension Service. The tuition fee is $10.00.

For further information, call FR 3-1940, ext. 2747; Institutes and Short Courses Department.

Cougar pitcher John Blair can give good advice on where not to eat in Pocatello, Idaho. He ordered two cheeseburgers and a chocolate milk shake, and when the check was presented to him he asked for a dish towel. The check was $1.85.
